On ECCLESIASTICAL ESTABLISHMENT, extracted from a letter written to the Venerable Mufti, Successor of the Prophets and Messengers of God, dated PARIS, 10th of the 6th moon of the year 1643, by MAHMUT the ARABIAN, a TURKISH spy, who lived five and forty years undiscovered at PARIS, giving, in a series of letters, an account to the Divan at CONSTANTINOPLE of the most remarkable transactions of EUROPE, and discovering several intrigues and secrets of the Christian Courts, especially that of FRANCE, & co.

"THE Christian Church seems to be a stately building, where of prelacy is the corner-stone; if this were removed, all would fall to the ground. That which they call the hierarchy, if it could once be dissolved or pulled down, we should soon see all Christendom laid in ruins. This hierarchy is a gradual subordination of Archbishops, Bishops, and Priests; the inferior depending on the superior, and all deriving their orders and dignities from their chief Patriarchs. These are the links which compose that chain that fastens Christendom together; were this but once broke, the united interest of Europe would soon fall into pieces. The way must be, by beginning at lowermost link. Could but the Priests be rendered independent on the Bishops, and on these Priests drawing infinite numbers of people after them; as it is apparent in Geneva, Holland, Switzerland, and other places, where they have quite abolished the order and authority of Bishop: And it is observable that none of these forementioned countries, since that time, have ever been instrumental in opposing the victorious arms of the Ottoman Empire: As if, with the downfall of Episcopacy, the charm were dissipated, which had for some ages precipitated these nations (among others) to a rash and obstinate resistance of that force, which is destined by fate.

"Weigh this thought well, and thou wilt find that the order of Bishops is essential and necessary to the good estate of Christendom; and that the only way for the Musselmans to undermine all Europe, will be to supplant this order, and introduce an ecclesiastick independency among the Priests; by which means every one shall assume to himself, not only his proper fragment of the torn dignity, but the whole fundamental power of a Bishop; taking upon him to do those offices, which before it was not accounted lawful for any but a mitred head to perform. Hence, in time, will follow innumerable inconveniences, distastes and broils; and perhaps as many schisms, as there are particular Priests to head them: Since every one will be apt to think himself capable of dictating to all the rest, and judge it below him to receive the law from any. Thus will there be a clear stage for ambition, avarice, and lucre to act their parts on: And when, by the craft of designing men, and superstition of bigots, and the easiness of the credulous, the greatest part shall be so divided, that it will be difficult to find two men of the same mind in articles of faith; it will then be easy, either by thy intelligible reasons in the Alcoran, or the more cogent arguments of the sword, to plant the true and undefiled faith in these countries.

[DECEMBER 11, 1775.] WILLIAMSBURG: PRINTED BY HUNTS. [ISSUE NO. 2184]

By his EXCELLENCY, &c.

A PROCLAMATION.

As I have ever entertained hopes that an accommodation might have taken place between Great-Britain and this colony, without being compelled, by my duty, to this most disagreeable, but now absolutely necessary step, rendered so by a body of armed men, unlawfully assembled, firing on his Majesty's tenders, and the formation of an army, and that army now on their march to attack his Majesty's troops, and destroy the well disposed subjects of this colony: To defeat such treasonable purposes, and that all such traitors, and their abettors, may be brought to justice, and that the peace and good order of this colony may be again restored, which the ordinary course of the civil law is unable to effect, I have thought fit to issue this my proclamation, hereby declaring, that until the aforesaid good purposes can be obtained, I do, in virtue of the power and authority to me given, by his Majesty, determine to execute martial law, and cause the same to be executed throughout this colony; and to the end that peace and good order may the sooner be restored, I do require every person capable of bearing arms to resort to his Majesty's STANDARD, or be looked upon as traitors to his Majesty's crown and government, and thereby become liable to the penalty the law inflicts upon such offences, such as forfeiture of life, confiscation of lands, &c. &c. And I do hereby farther declare all indentured servants, Negroes, or others (appertaining to rebels) free, that are able and willing to bear arms, they joining his Majesty's troops, as soon as may be, for the more speedily reducing this Colony to a proper sense of their duty, to his Majesty's crown and dignity. I do father order, and require all his Majesty's liege subjects to retain their quitrents, or any other taxes due, or that may become due, in their own custody, till such time as peace may be again restored to this at present most unhappy country, or demanded of them for their former salutary purposes, by officers properly authorized to receive the same.

WILLIAM WHITFIELD, jailer.

ON the 30th day of October, 1775, died in Prince George county, in Virginia, WILLIAM NELSON, of the town of Gilderson, near Leeds, in Great Britain. this gentleman was sent over with a power of attorney to settle certain accounts wherein John Ellis of said Leeds, and John Jackson of said Gilderson, are interested; and as there is no immediate channel of conveying a letter to Great Britain at this time, this method, over and above letters put into the post-office, is taken to give messengers. Ellis & Jackson information of the death of said Nelson, by their very humble servant,

STAFFORD county, AQUIA, Nov 8 1775

RUN off last night from the subscriber, a negro man named CHARLES, who is very shrewd sensible fellow, and can both read and write; and as he has always waited upon me, he must be well known through parts of Virginia and Maryland. He is very black, has a large nose, and is about 5 feet 8 or 10 inches high. He took a variety of clothes, which I cannot well particularise, stole several of my shirts, a pair of new saddle bags, and two mares, one a darkish, the other a light bay, with a blaze and white feet, and about 3 years old. From many circumstances, there is reason to believe he intends an attempt to get to lord Dunmore; and as I have reason to believe his design of going off was long premeditated, and that he has gone off with some accomplice, I am apprehensive he may prove daring and resolute, if endeavoured to be taken. His elopement was from no cause of complaint, or dread of a whipping (for he has always been remarkably indulged, indeed too much so) but from a determined resolution to get liberty, as he conceived, by flying to lord Dunmore. I will give 30s. to any person who secures him, and the mares, so that I get them again.

ROBERT BRENT.

N.B. Since writing the above advertisement, the mares have returned, and there is a great probability, from many circumstances, to conclude that he was taken from Dumfries, in company with a white servant of mr. Andrew Leitch's, in an oyster boat belonging to one Kelly, near Smith's point, in Northumberland. I will give 10s. if he is taken, and allow a handsome gratuity to any person who can convict Kelly of having carried him off.

TAKEN up in Hanover, a brown pied STEER, appears to be 3 years old, marked with a crop and slit in the left, underkeel and slit in the right ear. --- Also two HEIFERS, one black pied, and marked as above; the other red pied, marked with a crop and slit in the right, and slit and underkeel in the left ear; they appear to be 2 years old each. Posted and appraised, the steer to 30s. and the heifers to 20s. each.
